President’s Message
March meeting
At our Mar-12th meeting, we are pleased to have a guest speaker, David Staats of the local ikebana society, to discuss and demonstrate the art and craftsmanship of Ikebana, the ancient Japanese art of flower arranging. Ikebana (ike - arrange / alive and bana - flower) like bonsai is often a meditative or spiritual exercise, later evolving into a traditional artistic display in the Japanese household.

Future Programs:
BillB has proposed that the responsibility for our monthly program be divided among our members. Once a year you would be responsible for a program. This could be done individually, or in pairs, or groups of three, perhaps. You would be responsible for preparing the talk and images, etc. or securing someone to come speak (we can offer a $50 honorarium). This would function something like our current treat sign-up. It could be anything about bonsai, or any related area, or trips to Japan, exhibits you visited, etc. Think about this, and let’s discuss this concept at the meeting in March.

Winter Outlook and Scale:
As I write this portion of the newsletter, it appears that we will escape this winter without any of the brutal cold we experienced last year. Most of the Japanese maples are zone five or warmer, so growing them as yard plants is ‘iffy’. Growing them in pots that can be moved into a garage, or shed, or bomb shelter is much safer. But, because they are such beautiful trees it is SO tempting to grow them in the ground. A good friend with a large yard lost most of the Japanese maples he had growing in the ground last year. Like others, I continue to do battle with scale. At best the war is a draw. My efforts and vigilance only keeps them somewhat in check. On the positive side, as I reported last month, the scale have their favorite plants. So I must be sure to check these first. Alcohol on a Q-tip is how I deal with them. — Karl

Call for Librarian:
Interesting in managing the BBS Library? Speak up at the March meeting.
Chrysanthemum Bonsai:
At the December BBS meeting, Ralph brought in his chrysanthemum bonsai for show and tell. In Japan there are shows exclusively devoted to chrysanthemum bonsai, and they are spectacular. Badger Bonsai did a workshop twenty or thirty years ago with mums. The plants were ordered from Kings Mums, and they are still in business. What they send are rooted cuttings three to six inches high. The root mass is about the size of a golf ball. They have five dwarf varieties that are specifically grown for bonsai. The cost is about $4 per cutting plus shipping, so I anticipate the final cost to be about $5. If you are interested in exploring Chrysanthemums for bonsai, please look at their website kingsmums.com. We will take orders at the March-12th meeting if there is adequate interest. Note that as of this writing, they indicate they have almost sold out for the 2020 season, and only have 2 more shipping dates in Jun-2020.

Gnomes
Low growing, mounding types with small leaves and blooms of anemone and daisy style. Bushy, free branching strong stems. Height from 8 to 15 inches when mature. Most are bred for training to bonsai style and are also excellent for container and landscape planting. These are listed to the right, showing expected blooming dates, bloom classification, and height (all Short at 1 to 2.5 ft).

Chidori: Oct-16 to Oct-26 -- 7C Short
Very small, white single flowers, produced on a dwarf grower that develops large trunks and many branches.

Crystal Falls: Oct-15 to Oct-26 -- 8C Short
A naturally spreading type with long lasting white anemone blooms. A natural for a cascading bonsai or hanging basket. Also useful for bedding or large border. An exceptionally easy growth habit with strong woody stems.

Hatsune: Oct-16 to Oct-25 -- 8C Short
A small, solid yellow anemone. Develops many branches, good trunk, and strong surface roots.

Kotoi No Kaori: Oct-22 to Nov-10 -- 8C Short Golden bronze anemone with red ray florets. Very free flowering and adaptable to most any style.

Yukari: Oct-18 to Oct-28 -- 7C Short
Very small, pink, single flowers, with short florets. A dwarf grower. Good for miniature types of all styles.

From the very 1st BBS newsletter – Oct-1974: The only way to describe the first meeting of the Badger Bonsai Society is FANTASTIC!!!!!!! 105 people signed the list. And we were obviously unprepared for so many of you. But with your patience, not to mention your sitting on the floor, we were able to talk about Bonsai for awhile. The first workshop will be at 7:30 PM Thursday November 7, 1974 at Schmidt Nursery, Fish Hatchery Road and Irish Lane south of Madison.

Interestingly, today that site is still occupied by a nursery – K&A Greenhouse!

Show 'n' Tell

remember, bringing something related to bonsai to the meeting to show & tell about, will get you an additional ticket for our meeting door prize drawings!

At the Feb meeting, Ben brought along a Hoya leaf he was attempting to propogate (which regrettably he was informed, will only root, but not turn into any additional shoots or leafs); Will showed a Rocky Mountain Juniper yamadori harvested by Andy Smith (of Deadwood-SD, who will be at MABA-2020); and Joseph showed a recovery attempt of a broken weeping willow.

Obituary ...
Sadly, we report the passing of Kate Adams. Kate was born in Madison and while living in the Madison area was married to Jack Douthitt. She has been residing in the Washington state for the last several years.

Summary of Feb-member ranking of North American Collection ...

Thanks to Wayne for putting together the February program – an evaluation of the trees in the North American Collection at the National Arboretum. I think it was insightful and instructive. (MaryE must have peeked at my ballot because we had selected all the same trees.) ;-

The rankings by the 15 people in attendance at the Feb meeting are shown below.

Ranked 1st (collecting 8 of 75 overall votes, and 7 of 15 possible #1 votes) was "Goshin", the Chinese Juniper Forest of John Naka.

Then 3 trees were tied for 2nd ranking based on each receiving 5 of 75 overall votes, but based on the highest number of high rankings were:

ranked 2nd (2 of 15 possible 1st place votes), the cascaded Blue Atlas Cedar ranked 3rd (1 of 15 possible 1st place votes), the Chinese Juniper Forest ranked 4th, the Prostrate Juniper, also styled by John Naka and ranked 5th (with 4 of 75 overall votes) was the Bird's Nest Norway Spruce

As a side note, one of the trees in the North American Collection – a juniperus communis - was collected and styled by Jack Douthitt, the first president of the Badger Bonsai Society. This tree was collected from a dairy farm just west of Black Earth. The tree had been browsed by the cows, keeping it dwarfed. That hillside is no longer used for grazing and the trees no longer have much, if any, bonsai potential. If you have family or friends that have farms, pasture land is always a great place to look for bonsai.

As Seen on Local TV ...

Thanks to BBS member JosephG for his "intentional passive marketing" of the Badger Bonsai Society during his Feb-26th FOX-47 (WMSN) TV interview on the progress being made in preventing fatal overdoses in the Madison-WI area.
